The Brothers of the Baladi will perform music from their Grammy nominated CD, Just Do What's Right. Portland's finest Belly Dancers, Fanina and Jewels, will perform as well as the 'Pan Mediterranean World Beat-nik group,' Negara. The Woods is located in the Sellwood neighborhood. This is a 21 and over show.

The Brothers of the Baladi are noted as a great dance band that covers Arabic, Turkish, Persian, Armenian, North African, Reggae and Latin music plus their own original compositions. Recent tours of England and the US have brought raves from the press and fans alike. The SF Weekly writes: "Just Do What's Right is a boundary crossing cultural musical fusion with messages of peace and harmony. These guys use seductive tools like singing in seven languages and using the exotic rhythms of belly dancing to lure in their crowds."

This benefit celebrates the 10th Annual Daniel Pearl World Music Days, a global network of events to promote peace and understanding through the language of music in a united stand against the culture of violence. Thousands of musicians all over the globe have joined this expanding network of concerts to honor the legacy of journalist/ musician Daniel Pearl, the Wall Street Journal reporter who was kidnapped and murdered by terrorists in Pakistan shortly after 9/11. These concerts commemorate Pearl's life and work by using the universal language of music to spread a message of hope, unity and "Harmony for Humanity." Daniel Pearl was a talented musician who used music to spread friendship across cultural divides, leaving behind a long trail of musician friends that spans the entire globe. He firmly believed in the power of music to unite people. Since World Music Days' inception in 2002, more than 4900 concerts in 102 countries have participated in this global initiative coinciding with his October 10 birthday, led by the distinguished artists on the Honorary Committee.
